gone but not forgotten

A close-up photograph of a grey granite gravestone. The stone is rectangular with a horizontal groove near the top and bottom. The name 'EDNA M.' is carved in large, serif capital letters. Below it, the dates 'MAY 9, 1918' and 'MAY 11, 1993' are carved in a similar font. The top of the stone is bordered by green grass and several bright yellow dandelions. The bottom of the stone shows a partial view of a decorative carving, possibly a floral or scrollwork design.

A photograph of a grey granite gravestone in a cemetery. The stone is rectangular with a curved top and decorative carvings on the sides. It is set on a wide, low base. The inscription is on two horizontal plaques. The top plaque reads 'MARY M. FRIEL' and '1890 — 1927'. The bottom plaque reads 'PAGE FRIEL' and '1890 — 1975'. A bouquet of pink, white, and orange flowers lies at the base of the stone. The ground is covered in green grass and yellow wildflowers. In the background, other gravestones and a small blue flower arrangement are visible.
